Democratic Picnics and Railles.

DANVILLE, VA., Nov. 1. Special.— The Democratic plenic and rally at Keel-ings, in this county, to-day, was an immense effair, over a thousand people be-ing present. A big dinner was served ind speeches were made by A. J. Mon isgue, H. C. Kesee, Gus Treadway, Ike Strickland and Thomas N. Williams, Captain H. C. Kesee started as a Third party man, but has been converted, and his earnest and rousing Democratic speech to-day was the occasion for a sort of political love feast. It was a grand day for the Democracy and many converts were made.

There will be meetings in the county every day until the 8th. To-morrow Swanson will speak at Straight Store. Friday there will be a meeting at Vaco and at Design, four miles from Danville, and at Design, four miles from Danville. there will be a monster pienic, flag-raising and Democratic speaking. Jarob Smith, a penitentiary convict who escaped from the public works in Belford county a week or two ago, was arrested near here to-day by Officer Wynn, of the Danville police force, and lodged in jail subject to the order of penitentiary authorities. A telegram was received here to-day announcing the death of J. P. Bondu rant, of Augusta, Ga. He was the father of E. J. Bondurant, of this city, and was a native of Bedford county.

The remains will probably be brought here to-night, and will be interred in the East-End cemetery, where the only other deceased member of the family, a daughter, lies buried.

Hon. James Marshall spoke at the court-house Saturday evening before the Democratic club and an enthusiastic gathering of townsmen. The Wytheville bruss band met the speaker at the depot, and escorted him to the court-house, followed by a crowd of citizens.

Mr. Henry L. Lyman, a Well-Known Agriculturalist, Will Vote for Cleveland. The following letter speaks for itself: CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., Sept. 3, 1892. Hon. Jefferson M. Levy, Chairman Vir-ginia League of Democratic Clubs, Charlottesville, Va.:

Charlottesville, Va.:

Dear Sir,—In response to your request that I give you my views of Mr. Cleveland and of the present political contest, I cheerfully respond as follows:

I consider Dr. Chauncey M. Depew's eulogy of Mr. Cleveland as the free expression of an unbiased opinion. I have known Mr. Cleveland for twenty-five years (yet I do not claim any intimate acquaintance), and I think it but just to go still further than Dr. Depew, and specially note his glorious sense of right as he is able, after careful study, to see it; then, too, his heroic courage in marking out his line of duty and bravely following it. I have long since looked with lowing it. I have long since looked with anxious wishes for his election, and shall do all I can to secure it. As for my reasons for easting my lot with his political party I have no apologies to make. I never did have any sympathy with the effort to gain benefit out of the extrava-gance of surplus-grabbers, the policy of producing a great excess of revenue and the constant effort to magnify and prefer the constant effort to magnify and prefer any race and condition because of any assumed or supposed political voting power. The doctrine of a Government of the people, for the people and by the people is just as sound to-day as it ever was, and there never was a day whon it could be followed more beneficially.

I have most carefully studied the situation from an agricultural standpoint, and feel that we are but lending all our strength to monopolists, whose chief qualifications seem to be, when out of power, to promise relief to the producing element of our population and defy them

ment of our population and defy them when in power.

I have long been convinced that the Republican party has most ingloriously defaulted on the colored race question, and I am of opinion that the amelioration of that race must ultimately fall upon the shoulders of the people amongst whom they are found, who know them best and who are most kindly disposed toward them.

As I am in no sense a politician, this utterance can only be viewed as a voice from the ranks, but nevertheless a determined one.

Very respectfully your obedient ser-ant, HENRY, L. LYMAN.

Moun'ain Fire .- Conrad's Speech. PULASKI, VA., Oct. 3L-Special.-Our mountains have recently been on fire. As long as the work of destruction was done at a distance the sight was inter done at a distance the signt was interesting, but as the red tongue began its licking near our town the smoke became suffocating at one time, and our doors could not be so closed as to keep out the unwelcome guest. The only hope is that smoke will bring rain, which is sadly recorded.

The speech of Hon. Holmes Conrad, delivered in the Opera-House on Saturday night, will live in the memories of our people as the effort of a great thinker and gifted orator. His treatment of the Force bill was unique and powerful. Scores of those who heard him are saying: "We never understood the monster inlquity before."
The new church building of the Disciples will be dedicated on the second Sunday in November, at which time the paster will be assisted by Rev. Mr.

Hev. Alfred Jones preached at New Dublin on yesterday morning and at the Rock Road in the afternoon. A large congregation greeted Rev. Mr. Kelly at the Methodist church yesterday, when he delivered his first sermon to day, when he delivered his list sermon to his new charge. He introduced himself very favorably to his new people and others who heard him.

The new schedule of the Norfolk and Western does not suit us, in that we are not allowed the privilege of reading The Times on the morning of its publica-tion. The other changes are not of much concern to us. Kichmond, in these days of fast travel, should be in touch with every portion of the Commenwealth by noon of each day.

Prisoners Lynched in Russel'.

LEBANON, VA., Oct. 50.—Special.—A mob of forty or fifty masked men, between the hours of 11 and 12 o'clock, entered our town yesterday, and before they were discovered were at the outward door of the jail, and soon overpowered the jailer and caused him to surrender to them the key leading to the cell where them the key leading to the cen where Nathan Bergess and Sherman Lucus, the two prisoners, were confined for the murder of young Mr. Sutherland, on Dumps' Creek, in this county. The prisoners were handcuffed together for safe keeping, as they had come near breaking jail some days before. They were taken quietly from the jail, and carried half a mile west of the town, and there hanged to the limb of an oak tree, over the public road. The mob fired a few bullets into their bodies, and rode quietly away An inquest was held over the bodies to day, conducted by Justice Fickle, in which the jury failed to agree in a verdict. This affair is regretted by the people of our town and the public generally, so far as your correspondent is advised. The far is your correspondent is advised. The shooting of young Sutherland, it is said, was altogether unprovoked, but our peo-ple generally do not believe in lynch law. The Democrats of this county are ex-pecting a victory on the 5th of November, notwithstanding the Third party candi-date, Mr. Cowan, is of our county. The Hon, J. W. Registration in Roanoke, ROANOKE, Oct. 31.—Special.—The total registration in this city, including Saturday, is 5,950, a gain of 1,433 over last May. Several hundred names were erased from the books, a majority being white, how-ever. The Democrats are well pleased with the result, and confidently rely on carrying the city by not less than 650 majority for Cleveland, and a much larger vote for Edmunds, who will get the support of many Republicans. The Catholic fair, which has been drawing large crowds to the Sam Jones tabernacle, has been transferred to more comfortable quarters. Considerable attention is being attracted to the Lunsford iron mines, recently opened, eight miles east of the city, by Whitehurst & Smith. The ore assays about 53 per cent., is of excellent quality and is being largely handled by Roanoke city.

There is no little talk of a railroad from this place to Cloverdale, from whence a road to Fincastle will soon be completed, and it is no secret that a line will soon be constructed from Fincastle to Salisbury, on the Cheshpeake and Ohio road. Whether the Fincastle-Salisbury road will be constructed the Chesapeake and Ohio or the Baltimore and Ohio, which is very anxious to reach this city, is an open ques-tion, but there is little doubt that the connection will soon be made, and that Roanoke, through its communication

RED HOUSE, CHARLOTTE COUNTY, Oct. 31 .- Special .- The Third party held a meeting here Saturday, which was addressed by Messrs. Bloxton, Beverly and Cobbs. They revamped the old charges against the Democratic party, but made no converts, it being obvious that the meeting was entirely in the interest of the Republicans Dr. Mott Robertson, candidate for Congress in the Appomat-tox district, got into an altercation, which came near ending in a fight.
